Throughout the spring semester of 2018, Rebekah has demonstrated exemplary skills in reference to her ability to conduct and administrate therapeutic intervention. Rebekah is able to adapt her activities based on the child's performance and can modify her lessons to the ability of the child/session. She has shown these strengths working with students involving a variety of modalities.

She is able to see the child as a whole; she shows both compassion and a knowledge of behavior intervention strategies. Rebekah was able to establish an immediate rapport with her students and fellow staff at the HLVS. She was an integral part of programming and establishing augmentative communication devices for many students on her caseload.

Rebekah always conducted herself in a professional manner throughout the semester. She accepted and utilized verbal and written feedback from this supervisor. She came prepared with questions and implemented my feedback in future sessions. It was a pleasure to be able to supervise Rebekah during this semester, and in my professional opinion she will make an outstanding Speech-Language Pathologist.
