To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing on behalf of Julianne Remus. It is my great pleasure to have known and worked with her from April 2014 to November 2017 as a speech language therapist at the League Education and Treatment Center, which is a day treatment school for emotionally disturbed students, ages 5-21. In my experience she is an extremely personable and diligent woman who is very competent and creative in her work, both in her ability to relate to the students, but also as a highly motivated member of the treatment team.

I have been in my position for over 30 years and during that time, I have rarely worked with a speech therapist who was as able and willing to assist members of other disciplines as was Ms. Remus. She is intelligent and creative; she has shared with me many ideas as to how to reach the students with whom we worked together. She was committed and caring toward the students but also took the notion of a collaborative treatment team seriously. We shared many students on our case loads and her assistance to me as the treatment coordinator was invaluable.

Ms. Remus is an excellent communicator who has a positive attitude and never gives up. She searches for alternative ways to instruct the students and shares her knowledge and success with the rest of the team. She motivates students to learn and does so by making the work fun. She channels her own enthusiasm for activities into the lessons and excites children to learn. Her ideas for both individual and group sessions were creative and innovative.

I can vouch for Ms. Remus's work ethic. She is dependable and reliable and will be a valuable asset to any agency.

Sincerely,

Connie Axelson, Ph. D.
