

Bradley T. Leposa
1705 Dell Street
Allentown, Pennsylvania 18103
bleposa07@gmail.com
610-533-2440

Education

The Pennsylvania State University State College, PA
Doctorate in School Psychology, May 2017
Thesis: Generalizability of Direct Behavior Ratings by Trained and Untrained Raters

M.ED in School Psychology, Fall 2013
Thesis: Parental Employment Status and Children's Academic Achievement

Credentials and Certificates

Educational Specialist 1, School Psychologist PK-12 Pennsylvania
04/01/2016 – 04/01/2022

Maryland Educator Certificate SPC 1, School Psychologist Maryland
07/02/2016 – 07/01/2021

Nationally Certified School Psychology (NCSP) Certification
(Pending)

Employment History in School Psychology

Baltimore City Public Schools Baltimore, MD
School Psychologist, 2016-2018
Conducted cognitive and social/emotional assessments
Delivered behavioral and social/emotional interventions
Consulted with teachers and parents to address academic, social, and behavioral concerns
Consulted with administrators to address academic, social, and behavioral concerns

Baltimore City Public Schools Baltimore, MD
Doctoral Level Intern, 2015-2016
Conducted cognitive and social/emotional assessments
Delivered behavioral and social/emotional interventions

State College Area School District State College, PA
Practicum Student, 2013-2014
Conducted psycho-educational assessments
Collected and analyzed RTI data
Delivered educational and behavioral interventions

Related Experience

Pennsylvania Campus Compact (PACC) AmeriCorps*Vista Philadelphia, PA
Corps Member, 2007-2008
Developed curriculum for and organized and facilitated program to bring college students into Philadelphia School District high schools to tutor and mentor high school seniors.

Other Experience

Penn State Department of Biobehavioral Health

State College, PA

Instructor, Summer 2015

BBH 411w Research and Applications in Biobehavioral Health

Presentation

Clark, T., Crimmins, A., Leposa, B. (2012). Reading First, or is it? Presented at the National Association of School Psychologists 2011 Convention, Philadelphia.