To whom it may concern,

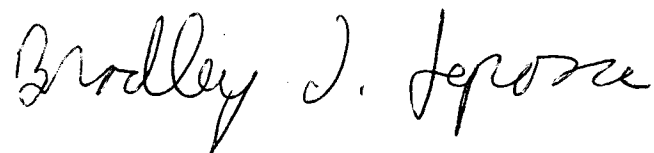

My name is Bradley Leposa. I am writing this letter to express interest in your school psychologist position. I believe my professional and educational experiences make me an excellent candidate for CORA Services.

For the past two years, I worked as a school psychologist with Baltimore City Public Schools. Prior to my employment, I completed a doctoral level internship with that district. During my time in Baltimore, I completed psychological assessments, and I provided collaborative consultation to parents, teachers, and administrators. In addition, I also provided group and individual counseling for students from grades pre-k through 12, and I was involved with the district's prevention and early intervention program, as well as multi-tiered systems of support at my schools. While working in Baltimore City, I worked with several student populations, such as students with emotional disturbances, intellectual disabilities, and autism. I also provided support and collaborative consultation to a Life Skills program and a specialized preschool Early Learning Environment for children with developmental delays and autism.

While working and completing my internship in Baltimore City, I graduated from Penn State in May 2017 with a doctoral degree in school psychology. At Penn State, I conducted psycho-educational evaluations at the Cedar Clinic. I also engaged in a year-long practicum experience with the State College Area School District during which I provided collaborative consultation and collected data, as well as delivered academic and behavioral interventions, for the district's multi-tiered systems of support and response to intervention programs.

I am moving back to Pennsylvania in June 2018. I would be happy to discuss my qualifications and experiences further in an interview. If you have any questions, I can be contacted at the information listed above. Thank you for taking the time to review my application.

Sincerely,
