To Whom It May Concern:

It is my privilege to write this letter of recommendation for Ms. Danielle Porrevecchio.

I have known and interacted with Danielle in her role as a Certified School Counselor Practicum Student and Intern, and most recently as a Certified School Counselor with Pasco County Schools, since January of 2015. Having been impressed with her work ethic and commitment to school counseling, Danielle was hired as a school counselor prior to her graduation from her Masters program. This is not a common practice in Pasco County, with only those considered highly qualified being afforded this opportunity.

Being a Program Coordinator for School Counseling, I have not had a direct supervisory role of Danielle. However, I have witnessed and heard evidence to support that she has worked collegially with the staff members within the school where she has trained and worked. She is considered to be a team player and has been recognized as thorough and foresighted. Ms. Porrevecchio's positive attitude and team-oriented demeanor encourages others to collaborate with her regularly. Danielle is a caring educator who works diligently toward meeting the needs of her students. Her professionalism is apparent in her attendance and participation in staff development opportunities and her willingness to embrace and implement school and district initiatives.

Ms. Porrevecchio has taken advantage of attending mandatory as well as optional trainings. She has taken her newly acquired information and processed it thoroughly before applying the techniques in her practice. I applaud her interest in wanting to learn as much as she can to refine her skills.

I have no doubt that Danielle Porrevecchio will be an asset to any school or organization who have the good fortune to employ her. Her loss will definitely be felt in Pasco County.

Thank you,

Lynn L. Young
